

The Gratitude Garden is a nature-based STEM focused school (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math) with emphasis on positive social and emotional development, artistic expression, and creativity. Our program is designed to support 21st century skills through engaging the imagination, curiosity, and critical thinking. We instill a love for learning through nurturing children's confidence to try new things and explore the world around them. Children's sense of character blossoms through cultivating gratitude, compassion, creativity, and resiliency.
